STUFF YOU SHOULD KNOW

Health Log

Are you a camp counselor that needs to know how to log camper injuries? Or maybe you're a lead nurse that's in charge of reviewing health logs and supervising health staff?

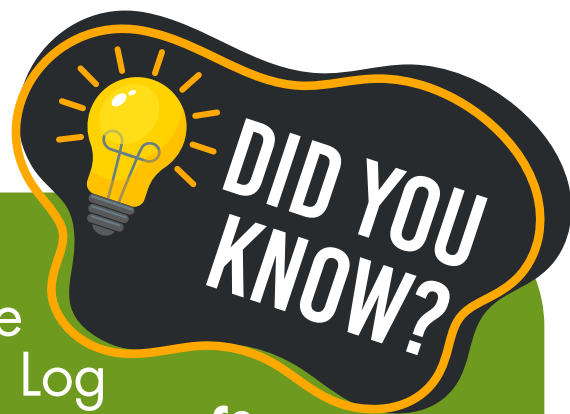

We all care deeply about kids' and staff health and safety. We want you to feel confident in using our app to track any health and injury-related incidents, no matter your role!

Take a moment to visit the Health Log support article, and refresh yourself on how to:

- create a health log entry
- add an addendum
- review entries
- create health log templates
- and more!

In Case You Missed It (ICYMI)

 Find the April feature webinar on Health Log & eMAR recording here.

that the Health Log is tamper-proof?

This means that entries can't be deleted, and can't be altered by anyone other than the provider who originally entered them. Original entries will always remain intact, meeting ACA standards.

TIME-SAVING TIP!

Create health log templates for common occurrences like lice checks, colds, sore throats, or sprains.

You'll thank us later 😊

STUFF YOU SHOULD KNOW

Did you know that our platform initially began as just an electronic medication tracking tool? That's because we know that administering meds to kids can be tricky (but oh so important)! The electronic medication administration record (eMAR) is here to make your life easier.

Bonus: it's easy to learn and use!

Take a moment to visit the eMAR support article, and refresh yourself on how to:

- chart medications
- apply eMAR filters
- export medication history
- track medication quantity
- and more!

EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT

This month, meet our talented Marketing Data Analyst..

YANJUN TAN

Bringing the perfect blend of analytical prowess and creative flair, Yanjun has been instrumental to DocNetwork's growth over the years. As a member of the Sales & Marketing team, she delves into the depths of marketing data, where she evaluates and analyzes insights from various campaigns, websites, and CRM databases. With a keen eye for detail, she transforms raw data into actionable insights, uncovering trends and providing invaluable business recommendations for our team.

Her journey with DocNetwork began as a graduate school student and intern, where she quickly made her mark. Upon completing her internship, she made the bold decision to join us full-time as a Marketing Data Analyst, marking her first full-time job in the US—a journey she embraces with enthusiasm and excitement.

Outside of the office, Yanjun finds joy in “purposeless” walks in the city and exploring the quaint towns of Michigan, capturing the beauty of everyday life through her camera lens. An avid photographer, Yanjun had a remarkable achievement when one of her images was chosen as the cover photo for the local metro Detroit lifestyle guide, SEEN magazine. This success inspired her to pursue a passion project of creating a vlog channel on YouTube. Through her vlogs, she aims to share the beauty of countryside life and inspire others to find romance in the everyday.

A visionary, a storyteller, and a source of inspiration for all of us, Yanjun embodies the spirit of innovation and excellence at DocNetwork through her passion and dedication to her craft.
